

This aim is to offer adequate aid to the development of the growing human being. Education starts at birth, and therefore concerns parents as well as all other adults who take care of a child in the different milieu in which it grows.'

Mario M. Montessori Jnr. (1976) Education For Human Development