

Maria Montessori,
Education and Peace

A 'great work' must be undertaken. An extremely important social task lies before us: actuating [man's] human kind's value, allowing him to attain the maximum development of his energies, truly preparing him to bring about a different form of human society on a higher plane.